Information for bank transfer

In order for your application fee of 900 SEK to be credited to your application, it's important that you have the correct information with you when you arrange a fund transfer with your bank.

We suggest you print this document and make it available to your bank.

Reference Number

You MUST provide your reference number to your bank, in order for us to be able to match your fee payment to your admissions application. You can find it on the Application fee section of your account.

Information your bank needs in order to make your payment

Recipient = University Admissions in Sweden

IBAN = SE40 1200 0000 0128 1011 8973

Swift = DABASESX

(IBAN and Swift are account numbers and bank identifiers that your bank needs in order to get your payment to the right place.)

Bank address: Danske Bank, Norrmalmstorg 1, Box 7523, SE-103 92 Stockholm, Sweden

Currency

It is best if your bank transfer is in Swedish kronor. If this is not possible, it is easiest to transfer euro or American dollars.

Make sure the amount paid is 900 SEK

Banks charge fees for bank transfers - often both the bank sending the transfer, and the one receiving it. You're responsible for these fees. If the bank(s) deduct fees from your payment, the remaining amount must be 900 SEK.

If you transfer a currency other than Swedish kronor, remember that exchange rates can vary from day-to-day. If your bank transfer takes several days to arrive at the Swedish bank, the amount may not be 900 SEK if the exchange rate changed during that time.

Swedish residents with BankGiro

If you reside in Sweden, you can pay your application fee with BankGiro.

The account number is: 5198-3161

Include your reference number.

Please note BankGiro isn't available outside of Sweden.
